

PUBLICITY IN MAKING MINES

Tonopah, Nev., July 3, 1919.
Editor of the Daily Bonanza:
In last evening's issue you called attention by way of correction of a previous editorial that the Divide Annex instead of the Allied Divide had made the first contribution to the Divide-Tonopah Chamber of Mines' treasury.

Personally I did not ask for the correction, but hoped the Allied Divide would take the hint and at least get second place.

The argument I used to induce the Annex to move in promptly was this: The Annex is financed for a year from May 1 at the rate of $50 per day, not including the cost of machinery, which has been fully paid for. The assessment of the Chamber of Mines is $500 for the year, and its payment shortens the work of the company open days; but let us assume that the energetic campaign of the Chamber of Mines for publicity in the East will enable the company to sell 50,000 shares of treasury stock at the present value of better, would that not add months to our development period and many times make good the loss of eleven days? This argument applies to all the companies not yet shipping.

As a matter of fact, since the check was drawn to the Chamber of Mines, a deal has been consummated that will enable us to continue our exploration work for an additional six months. It may be needed. Almost every mine in Tonopah required more than a year's development work to put it on the shipping list. We hope that a few months' more will tell the tale, our shaft being now 170 feet deep, but we are ready for a long season of work, and still have treasury stock to dispose of if necessary.

WOBBLY WILSON WAY OF DOING

Thomas J. Gibbons, the ambitious young broker who qualified for appointment to the office of deputy internal revenue collector, was surprised this morning on receiving a letter signed by Justice S. Wardell of San Francisco, stating that owing to his tender years it was deemed advisable to cancel the appointment made so recently. This is the only excuse vouchsafed and the friends of the appointee are justly indignant as all the circumstances, including the age of the nominee, were known when the appointment was made with the unanimous approval of Senators Henderson and Pittman and Congressman Evans.

Mr. Gibbons' capacity for handling business is well known in Tonopah where he has occupied responsible positions notwithstanding the fact that he is only 22 years of age. When war was declared he was the first youth from Tonopah to offer his services to his country by enlisting in the navy where he was rejected for physical deficiencies that were no reflection on his character.

CHILDREN WILL RACE TOMORROW

Tomorrow the kids of Tonopah and those of the youngsters lucky enough to pay us a visit while we help celebrate Independence Day will have their inning—and then some. Those in charge of the arrangements for the monster festival have gone out of the way to make the future citizens remember this particular day of days.

Promptly at 1 o'clock Will Brown will send his young athletes off in a series of races. The prizes will be waiting for the little fellows when they break the tape. About fourteen races in the short sprints are on the cards and the lucky ones will be those that romp in one, two and three order.

Let the boys puff on over much. Brown has a few races on tap for the other sex and is willing to wager a bright new necktie that the girls will beat the time of some of the sterner sex. Brown has not let us in on the secret, but we have the "low down" to the inside of the "end box" dogs that he has entered a few of our speedy "A. D. T." messenger girls and if such is the fact the boys may just as well call it a victory for the female of the species right now and let it go at that.

After the youngsters get through with their speed tests they can romp right over to the children's free entertainment booth, corner of Brougher and Main, and get their fill of ice cream. Toys also will be doled out. The doors of the Butler theater will be thrown wide open and the boys and girls will no doubt welcome the opportunity to see a nice thriller on the screen while resting up to tackle some more of the ice cream.

All in all it promises to be one sweet celebration, this, to commemorate the victory of our laddies who gave the Huns a taste of Yankee "beat 'em rough" style.

F. T. Miller, who is in charge of the kiddies free entertainment feature says that in order to make sure that no one gets a tummy ache, the ice cream will be doled out as fast as it can be eaten. He will have twenty-five count them, fellows—of our girls work for play in two hour relays keeping the lines moving.

"Hey, mom, where is me short pants, I want go downtown and get some ice cream."

AUSTIN PARTY IN AUTO WRECK ESCAPE INJURY

One evening the latter part of last week, George Myles, accompanied by Misses Margaret Myles, Lena Streshley, Phil and Louise Barrego, motored out to Big Creek canyon, about 12 miles from Austin, and when rounding a curve the car skidded over toward the embankment with such force that the left front wheel was broken. The accident was so sudden Mr. Myles did not have time to stop the car, which went over the embankment with the occupants, turning over twice and stopped with the wheels in the air and the party underneath. Miss Streshley was in the front seat with Mr. Myles and was the first one out of the wreck. Mr. Myles and the other three young ladies then proceeded to crawl out and after the usual smiles were passed around it was found that the only injury sustained was a slight scratch on the left arm of Miss Streshley.
